SLIDESHOW: Deadly Bronx Blaze

VALLEY STREAM, N.Y. (CBS/AP) — A Long Island man has offered to restore the home of the two Bronx families that burned down last week.

1 of 1 Click to enlarge

Mark Marinoff says that he felt it was just the right thing to do. The 55-year-old is the owner of M. Marin Restoration. He says he has been doing fire restoration on Long Island and in the city for 35 years.

He says he will donate his services and that he communicated his offer to Moussa Magassa.

While he has yet to see the damage, Marinoff says once he knows what it will take to rebuild the home, he plans to ask suppliers to donate materials.
